The President then appointed T. J. Morisey, Silas Heiring, J. L. Clifton, E. C. Gavin, and Wm. Faison a committée to draft a preamble and resolutions for the consideration of the meeting.

When the committee had retired, there was a call made for the Hon. J. C. Dobbin, who apologized in a neat and very appropriate manner by saying that this was a meeting held by the people of Sampson—that he did not think that Cumberland should intrude, and that he much preferred listening to some son of old Sampson. L. F. Carr being called upon, responded in a neat, appropriate, and descriptive manner, embracing the positions occupied by the two great sections of the United States.

The committee on resolutions then reported through their chairman, T. J. Morisey, the following preamble and resolutions :

Whereas, the people of the non-slaveholding States have for many years manifested a total disregard for the constitutional rights of the South in their unjust and improper interference with the cherished rights of the people of the slave-holding States, and now seek by improper and unconstitutional legislation to exclude the citizens of the slaveholding States from an equal and common enjoyment of the territory acquired by the treasure, blood, and life of the citizens of the slaveholding States in common with the citizens of the nonslaveholding States, and still seem disposed to violate not only the spirit, but the express provisions of the Constitution of the United States upon the subject of slavery; and whereas every freeman of the slaveholding States claims and possesses an equal and constitutional right to all the territory acquired by the government of the United States; therefore we, the people of Sampson, (without distinction of party,) in convention assembled, do thus resolve, viz: Resolved, That every attempt to abolish slavery in the District of Columbia is a violation of those compromises in the Constitution of the United States upon which, and which alone, the federal compact could have been formed. Resolved, That every attempt to exclude slavery from the territories of the United States is a violation of the Constitutional rights of the slaveholding States, oppressive and unjust, and will be forever resisted.

Resolved, That the anti-slavery resolves of Vermont, and similar recent indications at the North, manifest decided hostility to the South, and loudly call upon every southern freeman to be prepared for the worst. Resolved, That we approve of holding a Southern Convention at Nashville, Tenn., on the first Monday in June next, and we recommend to the other Counties in this Congressional District, to hold primary meetings and appoint delegates to the District Convention to be held in Wilmington on the second Monday of March, in order to appoint delegates to the before proposed Southern Convention.

Resolved, That the crisis in our affairs demands the cool and dispassionate exercise of the profoundest statesmanship of our wisest and best men. Resolved, That we only seek through a Southern Convention a proper, equitable, constitutional, and permanent adjustment of the slavery question. Resolved, That we cherish the fundest attachment to our glorious Union of independent States, and will never cease to defend and uphold it, if permitted to enjoy, unmolested, our constitutional rights and liberties. Resolved, That the laws passed in some of the north-ment upon the rights of the South. Resolved, That a copy of the preamble and resolutions of this meeting be forwarded by the Secretaries to our Senators and Representative in Congress. On motion, the resolutions were separately read.

T. J. Morisey being then called upon, proceeded to address the meeting in a cool, dispassionate, and approbe unflinching and united. Mr. W. K. Slocumb being called upon, proceeded to the bosom of every southern slaveholder. There was a call upon Mr. Stephen E. Williams, to which he happily responded.

Hor. J. C. Dobbin being again called upon, respond-arose and tendered an apology, as he supposed that the meeting was wearied already by the many addresses they had listened to, when he was cheered by cries of 2d. But it is, nevertheless, considered and resolved, aroused, and wo be to him who disturbs his lair."

On motion of L. F. Carr, it was resolved that 50 dele-

On motion, it was resolved that the President's name be added to the list of delegates. Ordered, that these proceedings be forwarded to the Wilmington and Fayetteville papers, with the request that all the papers in the State will publish them. After tendering the thanks of the meeting to the offi be so fairly settled. Resolved. That the gold region has excited a spirit of enterprise without a parallel, and drew to California adventurers from every clime and country, unstaid by agricultural pursuits or family ties, have hastily formed a constitution, prohibiting slavery, and now ask admission as a State. Resolved, That the South, when contrasted with the North has been represented as the weaker party; and their magnanimity has been appealed to in our behalf. We prefer no claim. We make no demand but what common honesty will sanction. What is legally and constitutionally ours, they have no right to interrupt; then cease to annoy us, or we cease to be friends.
